

Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Call issued: March 29, 2019
Application deadline: June 28, 2019

Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme

The Caribbean Leadership Programme (CLP) under the Caribbean Centre for Development Administration (CARICAD) is pleased to issue a Call for Applications from suitably qualified mid-level managers for enrolment in its Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme (LDP). The LDP will be delivered in a synchronous, virtual and experiential learning format beginning September 2019.

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The CLP is designed to strategically strengthen the next generation of Caribbean men and women leaders to contribute more effectively to regional integration and economic growth. This is accomplished by developing leadership programming aligned to the needs and culture of the Caribbean Region and by fostering regional approaches for the sustainability of leadership development.

The key programme areas of the CLP are:

- 1) Leadership Development Programme (LDP): The CLP delivers several leadership development programmes targeted at political, senior executive, mid-level and first-time junior leaders from CARICAD member states, regional organisations and beyond.
- 2) Enabling Environment: Cognizant of the fact that the realities of one's work environment have a significant impact on a leader's ability to apply lessons learnt, CLP has developed an Enabling Environment Assessment Tool to assess the organisational factors within Caribbean public sector and regional institutions that enable the practice and development of leadership. Visit the website at www.clptoolkit.org for further details.
- 3) Continuous Learning and Development Network (CLDN): Continuous learning and development networks proactively support learners as they practice their learning in their workplaces. Learning and development networks maximize the impact of learning by facilitating further exchanges about the practical applications of what happens in the classroom and other formal learning events.
- 4) Caribbean Learning and Development Specialists Network (CLDS): The Caribbean has a significant number of experts in the field of public sector finance, public administration, economics, management, regionalization, gender and various other technical topics relevant to public service leaders. For optimal leadership development, the work of such technical experts must be complemented by "process" experts whose forte lies in areas related to the design, facilitation and evaluation of complex, multi-module programmes as well as executive coaching. Through the CLDS, the CLP contributes to the growth and development of learning and development specialists of public sector training units and institutions in CARICAD member states, by supporting capacity building, sharing of learning and resources, and fostering regional collaboration for public sector learning and development.

Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme

CONTENT FOR MID-LEVEL LEADERS

This LDP aims to address the following core leadership competency areas and link these in particular to the unique challenges, demands, priorities and learning needs of mid-level managers. The focus is on the role of the leader and leadership as a function and will assist participants in linking their managerial role to leadership aspects, behaviours and approaches. The broad themes to be covered are:

- ◆ Who am I as a leader? - Understanding self, one's own leadership style and approaches, and how to build effective relationships.
- ◆ Who are we as a team? - Leading and developing one's team, and learning a variety of tools to build high performing teams.
- ◆ Who do we serve? - Analysing clients' needs and managing quality client service, fostering innovation in improving client service, and interpreting and implementing organisational strategy.

We will address key leadership themes and concepts in areas of People Intelligence, Business & Organisational Intelligence, Operational Intelligence and Emotional Intelligence. Fully integrated with these areas, the LDP will address environmental sustainability, gender equality and diversity as Cross-Cutting Themes (CCTs). The design will enable participants to explore and appreciate the importance of economic growth, regional integration and good governance.

PROGRAMME COMPONENTS AND TIME COMMITMENT

The programme is approximately four (4) months in duration. Participants are required to fully participate in all components in order to retain enrolment in the Programme. The programme offers an integrated design of virtual sessions in large and smaller group sessions, self-study and a practical work-based learning and application project. All components are interconnected and become stepping stones to create a coherent learning experience delivered in a mix of various learning methodologies.

- ◆ Programme launch and orientation webinars: These will take place online September 2019. (About two to three two-hour virtual group sessions)
- ◆ Personal Learning Plan: Participants will be supported in developing their individual learning plans to guide their leadership learning journey within and beyond the programme: mapping their objectives, milestones and impact at a personal and organisational level, as well as their commitment to the transfer of learning to others in their ministries or organisations.
- ◆ Learning modules for the full-cohort will entail pre-planned, regularly scheduled, mandatory 2-3 hour virtual learning sessions between September 2019 and January 2020. All sessions will be delivered by professional regional and international facilitators and high-level guest-speakers from the public, private and civil society sectors.

Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme

- ◆ Leadership Stretch Project: Participants identify a work-based practical application project on a strategic issue for their organisation/ team/functional area in consultation with his/her manager.
- ◆ Peer-learning activities, self-study and home work: Participants will be expected to actively engage and participate online, do homework both individually and with fellow participants, engage in self-study, access recordings and reading materials and participate in cohort blogs and discussion boards online. (Assignments will be practical and relevant, and time commitment will depend on the themes and questions raised)
- ◆ Access to mentoring from CLP Alumni and the CLDN: The various CLP alumni will assist with the orientation and the mentoring of participants throughout and after the programme.

It should be noted that participants will be required to have reliable access to the internet, a laptop or desktop computer, and the requisite ICT skills to access online learning platforms, and use of Microsoft Office applications, in order to fully participate in this programme.

PROGRAMME BENEFITS

Participants will:

- ◆ Practice systemic, critical and adaptive thinking and practical, work-related behaviours– through classroom and virtual learning experiences, reflection, peer-coaching and self-assessment and feedback.
- ◆ Acquire international and regional perspectives – through presentations by expert resource persons, readings, site-visits or work-related leadership projects.
- ◆ Bring practical learning to their teams/peers –by teaching their peers in the broader Public Service community (including the various institutions and organs of CARICOM and the OECS Commission), and by reporting on their learning to other colleagues, senior leaders (Permanent Secretaries, CEO's etc.) and staff.
- ◆ Develop a network of trusted colleagues – through full-cohort and small-group learning activities as well as through mentoring and on-going alumni events, participants will develop as a community of learners and leaders that can support one-another during and beyond the programme.
- ◆ Demonstrate full commitment to their transformational journey – by identifying their Learning plan and participating in and attending all of the Programme components and other organised meetings and activities.

The Country and Region will:

- ◆ Learn from participants' experiences and professional growth – new strategies, new leadership competencies, new approaches to public service leadership, and service delivery;
- ◆ See direct impact - attention will be paid to addressing regional challenges in environment, governance, economic development, gender and diversity, human resource development, as well as fostering more systematic and sustainable approaches to leadership development for upcoming generations;

- ◆ Realise greater collaboration within and across countries: participants will be challenged to build strong relationships and networks as well as become role models by sharing their insights within the Public Service community of their country, and across the Region; and
- ◆ Develop sustainable strategies for continued excellence – Throughout the programme, the facilitators and support team will work with participants to apply their learning strategically and systemically, emphasizing practical ways to create an enabling environment for sustainable public service excellence as well as focusing on the continuous learning and development of themselves and their staff.

The CLP's mandate and priority are focused on creating sustainable and continued learning, enabling an impact beyond the participants and the programme itself. Therefore, participants' success in the Programme will be determined by observable/measurable improvements in job performance as evidenced by post-programme evaluation studies and research.

For testimonials from CLP's LDP Alumni, we strongly recommend that applicants visit CLP's website at www.caribbeanleadership.org and view the videos located under the media tab.

PROFILE

The Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme, with a target of 20 participants, will be composed of mid-level leaders.

PARTICIPANT SELECTION CRITERIA

This Programme has been described by our alumni as “not for the ‘faint-hearted’”, “completely different than traditional classroom learning” and “truly a deep transformative learning experience.”

To continue ensuring high quality learning for all involved, we, therefore, recommend that all applicants for enrollment in this Programme of the CLP LDP should:

- ◆ Have five (5) years' experience at a mid-level leadership position. Candidates with a shorter time at this level who can demonstrate sound supervisory experience (i.e. managing a project team, or a unit with responsibility for people and performance) are invited to present a compelling case which will be taken into consideration.
- ◆ Supervise a team and can adequately describe the size and kind of team and function they manage.
- ◆ Report to a senior manager directly.
- ◆ Have support from their manager for their participation and the study time required.
- ◆ Commit to undertaking a Leadership Stretch Project, relevant to their unit, department or functional area during the LDP.

Mid-Level Leadership Development Programme

All applicants for enrollment in the CLP LDP must:

- ◆ Have attained a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree from a 3-4 year degree programme at a duly accredited tertiary institution; however candidates without a Bachelor's degree who can demonstrate that they have a sound combination of supervisory experience and work related training will be considered.
- ◆ Be willing, able and fully committed to participate in all elements of this blended, experiential learning-oriented Programme;
- ◆ Be open to a leadership development learning experience which will stretch assumptions about themselves, learning and leading;
- ◆ Possess a proficiency in Windows (or Mac) operating systems and Microsoft Office Suite and sufficient technical equipment in order to be able to participate in the virtual learning components; access to a quiet working space to attend virtual sessions is essential.

As part of the application process, applicants will be asked to demonstrate and describe, with specific examples, their commitment and approach to on-going professional leadership development, as well as their commitment to transferring and supporting the development of their organisation, their direct reports, their peers and others to ensure sustainability and impact of learning and development beyond the programme's boundaries.

COST

USD$3000.00 inclusive of tuition and programme materials.
