Senior leaders - especially within Caribbean public services - are tasked with implementing policy solutions to address ever-increasing complex challenges. This requires, among other things, engaging of a wide range of diverse stakeholders such as: internal team members, colleagues in other organisations, various client groups, political directorate, and private sector and civil society interest groups.

Engaging such a wide array of stakeholders can be very daunting for leaders. So where does one start? Using the development of Jamaica's Vision 2030, this webinar will explore the approach that was used for engaging and building bi-partisan agreement, to develop and implement a national vision. Our guest presenter will be Elizabeth Emmanuel from the Vision 2030 Secretariat in the Planning Institute of Jamaica.

Join us for what promises to be a very interesting session!
